Platos Collective LLC

Capability statement · Accessible websites and web applications for public agencies and mission-driven organizations · Phoenix, Arizona · November 2026

Core competencies. WordPress and Next.js website design and development · accessibility remediation and conformance reporting to WCAG 2.1 and 2.2 Level AA (ADA Title II, Section 508) · intake, service-finder and client-portal applications · data dashboards · bilingual sites · content migration · hosting operations, security monitoring and staff training.

DIFFERENTIATORS

- A working prototype built from the buyer's own public information accompanies every proposal, so evaluators judge the work, not a description of it.
- Manual accessibility testing with NVDA, VoiceOver, TalkBack and keyboard-only navigation at design review, beta and launch; written conformance report and public accessibility statement at launch.
- Written scope, named milestones, decision log and weekly written status; two review rounds per design deliverable; staging before production.
- All code, credentials, licenses and accounts held in the client's name from day one.
- Fixed prices for defined scopes; hourly rates for change requests.

PAST PERFORMANCE

- RocketFunds.ai: public lending website and intake application.
- The 125 Collection (Harlem consumer brand): client workspace with approval workflows.
- Housing Done Wright (Phoenix shared-housing operator): WrightVision camera-monitoring owner console, 2026.
- Hospitality technology company: AI middleware and administrative dashboard.
- Prototypes built November 2026 from public information for a California regional center, a transit authority, a statewide bilingual nonprofit, a workforce development board and a national rural-housing nonprofit (public.platos.agency). Labeled prototypes, not client engagements.

TEAM

- Tavon Giaquinta, Founder & Principal Engineer: project lead and single point of contact; four years in enterprise software deployment and sales before founding the firm.
- Contract UX and plain-language content designer; contract accessibility QA specialist; both named at kickoff.
- AI assistants used for drafting, code review and testing under human review; no client non-public information enters a third-party tool without written approval.
